Our No Contact Junk Removal service allows us to remove items without direct contact, to ensure the comfort and safety of our customers and our teams. It's still easy to make your junk disappear—all you have to do is point. It's full-service junk removal, but you don't have to touch anything, and we touch only the things we're going to carry away.

Safety Focus Areas:

Healthy Teams

Our teams don't come to work when they are feeling unwell.

Safety Equipment & Training

Our teams have the health and safety materials, equipment and training they need.

Physical Distance

Our teams always practice physical distancing with our customers.

Refusal of Service

Our teams and customers are empowered to reschedule a service if it puts our people or our customers at risk.

How it works:

- Our team will call ahead to confirm your appointment and reassure that you're healthy and we're healthy
- We'll also confirm details, like where the items are located and how to access them
- We'll get to work, with estimates done over the phone or text with photos
- To further minimize contact, you can also move your junk outside for us, if you wish
- If your junk is inside, we must be able to maintain six feet of distance at all times
- We'll remove the items, load up the truck, and sweep up the area when we're done
- When the job is finished, payment can be processed without any contact
